

Empowering International Banks with Smarter Financial Messaging & Payments

Trusted by International Banks... Here's Why

Aqua Global supports clients ranging from tier 1 players to niche institutions, with cutting-edge financial messaging and payment solutions.

Many institutions feel overlooked by their solution providers. They are frequently treated as secondary to larger clients, receiving slower support, less flexibility, and have minimal influence over product roadmaps. On top of that, they are regularly pushed into costly upgrades or one-size-fits-all platforms that don't align with their operational needs or budget.

At Aqua Global, we understand these frustrations, and we have built our entire approach around giving our clients the attention, agility, and value they deserve.

Serving International Banks of All Sizes

Our clients include a diverse mix of international banks, from established players with significant market presence, to niche institutions carving out their space in a competitive landscape. What unites them is their need for robust, reliable, and efficient systems to manage their financial messaging and payment processing needs.

Why international banks choose Aqua

Many international banks often feel overlooked by major solution providers. They're frequently treated as secondary to larger clients, receiving slower support, less flexibility, and minimal influence over product roadmaps. On top of that, they're regularly pushed into costly upgrades or one-size-fits-all platforms that don't align with their operational needs or budget.

At Aqua Global, we understand these frustrations, and we've built our entire approach around giving these institutions the attention, agility, and value they deserve.

What Our Clients Say:

“Since integrating Aquila Message Management and Aquila Payments, we have seen remarkable improvements in payment automation, operational efficiency, and risk mitigation. The platform’s seamless multi-channel messaging capabilities have significantly reduced manual intervention, strengthened internal controls, and enhanced real-time transaction processing.”

Inayat Kashif, CTO
iFast Global Bank

“The implementation of Aqua Global’s Aquila Reconciliation Solution has provided us with the tools to centralize and automate our reconciliation processes across eight entities, resulting in significant reductions in IT overhead while ensuring compliance with the latest ISO 20022 standards.”
